Campbell™ Interest and Skill Survey (CISS®)

The Campbell™ Interest and Skill Survey (CISS®) helps counselors to obtain complete career assessment information by providing a measure of self-interests and skills.

The interest scale reflects the individual's degree of attraction for a specified occupational area.

CISS goes beyond traditional inventories by adding a parallel skill scale that provides an estimate of the individual's confidence in his or her ability to perform various occupational activities. Together, the two types of scales provide more comprehensive and richer data than interest scores alone.

CISS focuses on careers that require post Secondary education and is most appropriate for use with individuals who are college bound.
